Sample size calculation is relevance for all research activities based on need & demand of students & faculty, the department of Biostatistics has organised a Guest Lecture from one of the experts in this field. In order to reach out to larger audience, this Guest Lecture will be online
Every Research activity must be backed by calculation of sample size during preparation of research proposal. Since almost all students & faculty at HIMS are involved in research activity, the department of Biostatistics requested for a Guest Lecture on sample size calculation & its practical aspects. To reachout to the larger audience the Guest Lecture will be online.
