Clinical Grand Round

Date : 11.02.2023
Day : Saturday

Time : 03:30 PM – 04:30 PM
Venue: Auditorium (above HLTs)

Topic: “Acute Coronary Syndrome in disguise: A serious public health problem, often undiagnosed with lethal consequences”

Abstract:

Despite a remarkable decline in deaths due to cardiovascular disease over several decades, coronary heart disease (CHD) remains a leading cause of morbidity and mortality in India. More than 9,26,000 Indians die of CHD each year.

Typical symptoms of ACS include angina, dyspnoea, palpitations, diaphoresis and syncope. Patients who do not experience chest pain or typical symptoms of myocardial infarction on presentation to the hospital represent a large portion of the population and are at increased risk for delays in seeking medical attention, less aggressive treatments, and in-hospital mortality.

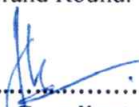

It is therefore important for health care providers to identify both typical and atypical symptoms of MI to avoid a delay in diagnosis and recommended therapy.

In this Clinical Grand Round, we will be discussing two such cases with atypical presentations to raise awareness about such atypical presentations.
