Abstract:

Voice for many is an identity. Our voice is how we are perceived and how we present ourselves to the world. Any alteration in the voice in terms of hoarseness or change in pitch may affect communication or even livelihood for professional voice users. Any infective, inflammatory, malignant or neurological condition affecting the vocal folds can cause change in voice. Most voice disorders can be treated or reversed by treating the underlying cause medically, surgically or through behavioural changes.

Misaligned voice with a person's gender can aggravate gender dysphoria which can put these patients at a risk of mental health issues and discrimination. Voice therapy followed by voice change surgery makes a positive change in such patients providing them with better lives.

This Continuing Medical Education (CME) session will help familiarize clinicians with conditions that may cause altered voice in patients and facilitate timely referral and intervention.

All Faculty & Post Graduate Residents are required to attend the Guest Lecture.
