Abstract:

The year 2025 marks a pivotal moment in pharmacological innovation, as evidenced by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) approval of a record number of First-in-Class therapies. These First in class drugs, defined by their novel mechanisms of action (MOA) and targets, have fundamentally reshaped treatment paradigms across oncology, rare diseases, and infectious disease management. We will be presenting the most significant first-in-class new drug approvals of the year 2025, highlighting major breakthroughs in several key areas. The approvals collectively underscore a commitment to developing highly personalized, molecularly precise, and convenient treatments, suggesting a transformative future for patient care driven by advancements in genomic and targeted drug design.
