BLOOD DONATION & ORGAN AWARENESS CLUB (Public Health, Social Welfare, & Community Outreach Clubs)

Introduction

This club promotes voluntary blood donation and organ awareness among students and the community, fostering a culture of compassion and life-saving action. It builds on SRHU's legacy of service through its state-of-the-art Blood Centre and Uttarakhand's only Eye Bank, encouraging students to become advocates for donation ethics, awareness, and outreach

2. Objective

The objectives of the Club are:

- Encourage regular voluntary blood donation and safe transfusion practices.
- Raise awareness about organ and tissue donation, including eye and kidney donation.
- Support SRHU's community health initiatives through student-led drives and campaigns.
- Collaborate with HIHT's Blood Centre, Eye Bank, Nephrology and Anatomy department for experiential learning.
- Promote ethical, informed decision-making around donation and end-of-life care.

3. Club Committee

The Club shall be governed by a committee comprising the following members:

Composition	Roles
Dr Manish Raturi, Professor Immunohematology and Blood Transfusion (IHBT)	Chairperson
Dr Sukriti Upadhyay, Assistant Professor, Ophthalmology	Treasurer

REPORT

Organized by : Blood Donation and Organ Awareness Club, Swami Rama Himalayan University
Date : 23rd January 2023
Venue : Blood Bank, Himalayan Hospital
Time : 10:00AM onwards

The Blood Donation and Organ Awareness Club, Swami Rama Himalayan University on 23rd January 2024 celebrated “Prakram Diwas” to commemorate the birth anniversary of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose Ji, one of India’s most revered freedom fighters. The event was held within the university campus to honour Netaji’s extraordinary courage, patriotism, and contribution to India’s independence movement. The celebration also served as an opportunity to raise awareness about the importance of voluntary blood donation and the need for safe blood and blood products in healthcare. Recognizing that voluntary donors form the cornerstone of blood transfusion services worldwide, the department organized a voluntary blood donation camp at the Blood Centre of Himalayan Hospital as part of the day’s activities. The camp witnessed enthusiastic participation from students, staff, and faculty, resulting in the successful collection of 43 units of whole blood.

The event’s objective was twofold—first, to pay heartfelt tribute to Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose Ji, whose indomitable spirit and leadership continue to inspire generations; and second, to highlight the humanitarian importance of blood donation as an act of service that saves lives. The observance of Prakram Diwas (Day of Valour) reflected the spirit of courage and selflessness that Netaji embodied throughout his life.

Participants were deeply moved by the significance of the occasion and expressed their commitment to supporting voluntary blood donation drives in the future. The event successfully combined national pride with social responsibility, fostering a sense of unity, compassion, and civic duty among all attendees.

REPORT

Organized by : Blood Donation and Organ Awareness Club, Swami Rama Himalayan University
Date : 14th June 2024
Venue : Blood Bank, Himalayan Hospital
Time : 10:00AM onwards

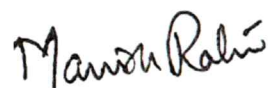

The Blood Donation and Organ Awareness Club, Swami Rama Himalayan University observed World Blood Donor Day on 14th June 2024 with a meaningful celebratory event held at the Blood Centre premises. The celebration aimed to raise awareness about the importance of safe blood and blood products and to acknowledge the invaluable contribution of voluntary blood donors who form the foundation of blood transfusion services across the world.

The event began with the felicitation of regular voluntary whole blood and apheresis donors, followed by a brief interaction and refreshments to honor their consistent support. The World Health Organization (WHO) theme for 2024, "Celebrating 20 years of giving: Thank you Blood Donors," highlighted the 20th anniversary of this global campaign and expressed gratitude toward millions of donors for their life-saving contributions. The event emphasized the significance of sharing blood as a gift of life and encouraged continued participation in voluntary blood donation drives.

A pledge ceremony was also conducted, during which faculty members, students, and staff reaffirmed their commitment to promoting awareness about voluntary blood donation and encouraging more people to come forward as donors. The event was graced by several HIMS faculty members and attended by postgraduate and undergraduate students, many of whom enthusiastically participated as blood donors. A group of MBBS students performed a short role-play depicting the importance of blood donation, which added a creative and educational touch to the celebration.

In continuation of the day's activities, the Blood Centre organized both in-house and external voluntary blood donation camps in association with the Amar Ujala Foundation, Tehri Garhwal. A total of 105 units of whole blood were collected from donors during these drives, reflecting strong community participation and commitment to the cause.

Extending the celebration throughout the week, two blood grouping camps were organized — one at the Himalayan College of Yoga Sciences on 7th June 2024 and another at the Himalayan College of Physiotherapy on 12th June 2024. Both events received enthusiastic participation, with 115 proposed donors registering themselves for future blood donations. These initiatives reinforced the importance of regular voluntary donation and community involvement in maintaining a reliable blood supply for patients in need.

The World Blood Donor Day 2024 celebration at HIMS was a resounding success, marked by gratitude, awareness, and humanitarian spirit. The event not only honored voluntary donors for their generosity but also strengthened SRHU's ongoing efforts to promote the culture of regular blood donation and social responsibility among its students and faculty.

REPORT

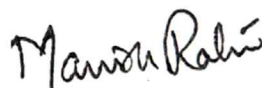

Organized by : Blood Donation and Organ Awareness Club, Swami Rama Himalayan University
Date : 6th January 2024
Venue : Blood Bank, Himalayan Hospital
Time : 10:00AM onwards

The Blood Donation and Organ Awareness Club, Swami Rama Himalayan University observed World Blood Donor Day on 14th June 2023 with a meaningful and celebratory event held within the university campus. The event aimed to acknowledge and appreciate the invaluable contribution of voluntary blood donors, while simultaneously raising awareness about the importance of safe and regular blood donation in saving lives. The celebration included a felicitation ceremony honouring several regular voluntary whole blood and apheresis donors who have consistently supported the blood transfusion services. The department expressed gratitude to these donors for their life-saving contributions and emphasized the vital role that voluntary blood donation plays in sustaining healthcare systems worldwide.

The theme announced by the World Health Organization (WHO) for the year 2023 was “Give blood, give plasma, share life, and share often. Join the effort and save lives.” This theme highlighted the importance of sharing the gift of blood and plasma more frequently to meet the growing demand for blood components and to ensure that patients in need receive timely transfusions. The event also included a pledge ceremony, where students, staff, and faculty members reaffirmed their commitment to promoting voluntary blood donation and raising public awareness about its humanitarian and medical significance.

In commemoration of this special day, the Blood Centre at HIMS organized both in-house and external voluntary blood donation camps, including one in collaboration with the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF), Tehri. A total of 85 units of whole blood were collected through these initiatives, demonstrating the university community’s active participation and sense of responsibility toward society.

Further extending the celebration into a week-long awareness initiative, two blood grouping camps were organized at the Himalayan College of Biosciences on 9th June 2023 and at the Himalayan College of Yoga Sciences on 13th June 2023. These camps received an enthusiastic response, with 87 potential donors registering themselves voluntarily for future blood donations. All details of the events and collected
