Activity Detail - A maternal health camp was conducted, attended by pregnant and lactating women, along with adolescents and children. The camp was facilitated by a medical team comprising a doctor, pharmacist, nurse, counselor, field supervisor and students. A wide range of services were provided, including general examinations, risk assessments, and primary investigations such as blood pressure, blood sugar, and hemoglobin tests. Antenatal and postnatal women received prophylactic treatment for anemia and essential micronutrients. Additionally, both group and individual counseling sessions were conducted on topics such as nutrition, family planning, self-care during pregnancy, institutional delivery, breastfeeding, hygiene, postnatal care, and overall maternal well-being.
